ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The disclosure describes techniques that can enable a node on a foreign sub-network to receive network messages from remote nodes without requiring communication with a home agent. In 5  particular, sending the network layer address of a node on a foreign sub-network and the network layer address of a router on the foreign sub-network to a remote node enables the remote node to tunnel messages to the router for de-tunneling and delivery to the node.